About the Centre of Maritime Law & Research

Centre for Maritime Law & Research is established with the joint efforts of Maharashtra National Law University Mumbai and Directorate General of Shipping in 2018 for the purpose of advancement in Maritime Academics and Research. The Centre works towards contributing to all the stakeholders of maritime community including Ship Owners, Ship builders, Charter Parties, Seafarers, Maritime Trade Unions by academic and research support. The objective of the Centre is to enhance the development of Maritime Law by promoting learning and research in the field by offering various training and research programmes.

About the Programme

The Programme is designed for training the law faculties and enthusiasts in teaching and researching maritime law. Indian ocean is quite significant for trade and security and thus, has a very promising future in this field. The emphasis on Blue Economy and 'Security and Growth for All in the Region' (SAGAR) by the Government of India has made it very important to prepare law faculties for teaching and researching on the subject. Maritime law is mostly taught as an elective course in the Universities. There are very less institutions that specifically teaches this subject as a degree course. One of the reason is the dearth of faculties and researchers who specialises in maritime law. With this goal, the Centre is organising One Day Capacity Building Programme on Teaching and Researching Maritime Law for the law faculties and enthusiasts to build and enhance their capacity in teaching and researching maritime law. The resource person will be practitioners and experts in the field of the maritime law.

Programme will be in the offline mode on the University Campus. Certificates will be issued after completion of the programme.
