Message from the Director, NISM

I am happy to inform that the National Institute of Securities Markets (NISM) is commencing the 3rd batch of one of the flagship programmes, LLM, jointly organized by the Maharashtra National Law University (MNLU) and NISM.

LL.M. (Investment and Securities Laws) is a comprehensive course covering advanced level curriculum relating to the full gamut of laws, theory and practice relating to corporate laws, competition, insolvency and bankruptcy and securities markets. In that sense it is a unique, high-powered programme compressed into a single year course to enable the participants to become top level professionals in these specialized areas. As you are aware these are the frontline areas for both practice and employment and the importance of these areas for the legal profession need not be emphasized.

In order to sharpen the minds further and to provide a holistic background of various related issues we recently launched the Leadership Lecture Series. Under this series, we invite various corporate leaders, regulatory leaders, eminent academicians and practitioner experts to talk on the frontier areas in various disciplines of relevance. Eminent experts such as Justice/s BN Srikrishna, Tarun Agarwala and Madan Joshi, RBI Deputy Governor Rabi Sankar; Entrepreneur and Academic Administrator Ajit Balakrishnan and Prof. Richard Whish, Emeritus Professor of law, Kings College, London, have delivered such lectures. We will be inviting such leaders periodically to address the students.

The LLM degree allows students to combine traditionally taught courses with in-depth seminars, internships and skills training for a complete approach to legal education with exposure to the corporate-financial sectors. Our academic team is cognizant of contemporary developments in the field of financial markets and our research team would be certainly engaging with the students in various research activities related to recent regulatory changes.

We assure you that this LLM programme will help you immensely in fulfilling your career aspirations whether in the form of corporate lawyers or as a practitioner. NISM also provides support in finding the right career by means of providing placement services.

I welcome you to the NISM family which is striving to achieve greater heights.

Dr. CKG Nair
Director, NISM

Message from the Vice Chancellor, MNLU, Mumbai

I look forward to welcoming the third batch of One-year specialized LL.M. program in Investment and Securities Laws offered by Maharashtra National Law University Mumbai (MNLU Mumbai) and National Institute of Securities Markets (NISM), an educational initiative of Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI), jointly.

Despite the pandemic, the placement record is very good of 2020–21 batch as they fared well in interviews of recruiting organisations. This was possible because of high quality standard being maintained in this programme. The knowledge sharing is done by experienced faculty members, SEBI officers, law firm partners and other specific industry experts. The dummy trading experience given through simulation lab is another highlight of this programme.

One-year LL.M. (Investment and Securities Laws) is a niche course which offers intensive interdisciplinary academic training in the legal regulation of securities and investments in India, through teaching, training workshops and extensive research. SEBI, in recent times has come out with many concept papers. Not only Securities Laws but various other laws like insolvency laws, RBI regulations are going through amendments whose effect may be seen on the securities market. This is one of the best time to be associated with financial market not only as a law practitioner but also as a researcher.

The progression of the course is more than satisfactory. This collaboration of MNLU Mumbai and NISM has given a fruitful result which is reflected in the satisfaction of our alumni. We are committed to maintain the high standard of this programme.

I advise the prospective students to join this programme and experience the vibrancy of the programme and see their transition into Securities Law professional.

Message from Registrar, MNLU, Mumbai

The creation of wealth has been associated with human beings ever since the economic ordering of society began. This peculiar human instinct has opened up scope and means for exploring and employing resources for the growth of wealth, which we call 'investment'. Actual acquisition and management of assets by an individual is a cumbersome process and is associated with several difficulties. These difficulties can be reduced by indirect investment through securities. Securities are the representative units of an interest or claim on certain assets; separate ownership from possession and management of assets and promote the spread of ownership and its professional management. The securities markets has become one of the most important segments of the national economy. New models of Securities instruments have emerged, and investment portfolio has been given increased impetus. Like in the case of any other segments of the economy, there is also a potential threat of manipulation in this segment also. We have already experienced such interventions and manipulations.

To safeguard the interest of the economy in general and of the investors in particular, it is highly necessary to strengthen the legal and regulating framework of the Securities markets as well as to create the required awareness among the public.

The LLM (Investment and Securities Laws) launched jointly by MNLU Mumbai, and NISM is a bold initiative to create such awareness and equip the legal and regulatory framework with the required expertise. The first two batches of the course have received tremendous support and acceptance by the government as well as the industry. While congratulating the faculty as well as the supporting team for the success of the course, I also wish them and the new entrants to the programme all success.
